

Lepinette E., Baptiste J., Carassus L. (Paris, France) Pricing without martingale measure.

We show that in a discrete-time financial market model, it is possible to characterize the minimal super-hedging of a European option under a weak condition of absence of arbitrage opportunity. This one is equivalent to the non negativity of the Call option prices, which holds even if there is no martingale measure.